Picture this: it's summer.
You've got no worries at
all. Hakuna Matata dude.
Except for: oops! Your laundry is piling up.

Mom says its time you do
your laundry yourself,
but you don't know where to start. Thank G
for FLOW LIFE SKILLZ
amiright?

First of all you gotta tackle the pile. Basically you'll sort it into 3 smaller piles: colors, whites, & darks.

Choose one of the piles & throw 'em in the washer. Set the washer
to warm, & the setting
to "normal." Don't start it yet though!!

Then, put either a capful of detergent or a pod either into the li'l detergent slot or directly into the washer depending on what type of washer you have.

Then you're good
to press start!

Once that's done, toss
it all into the dryer
for an hourish. Make sure to take out &
air dry anything that's like... too fragile or whatever.

Then rinse & repeat
(a little laundry humor for you) for all of your piles.

Also, if you're lazy like me, you can toss your whole big pile into the wash at once. Just set it to "cold" to make sure colors don't bleed & you should be a-ok.

Fold 'em as soon as they're done drying so they don't wrinkle.

Aaand you're done! Congrats, your clothes are clean and your mom is happy.
